Matters all Right in Japan.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4—Mr Mori, Japan Minister, received a telegram from San Francisco to day with the latest advices from Japan—to September 7th—stating that the country is quiet and Government affairs are progressing favorably. Mori authorizes a denial of statements in recent telegrams sent hence and widely published, including alleged anti progressive movements in Japan, and says Capron and Smith have not been discharged. They went to Japan under contract for a number of years at stipulated salaries, and can remain if they choose to the end of their term. Mori, instead of being removed as Chargé d'Affaire, voluntarily tendered his resignation last winter for purely private reasons. During last summer he was officially informed by his Government that his duties had been satisfactorily performed, and as evidence of its appreciation, Mori's rank was raised to that of Minister Resident. While thanking his Government for this distinguished consideration he insisted on resignation, and his desire to be relieved will be respected, but he will remain here until further orders.

LAST NIGHT'S DISPATCHES.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

EASTERN STATES.

Political Speculations.

CHICAGO, Oct. 5—The most intense interest is felt in all political circles in the State elections in Ohio, Pennsylvania and Indiana next Tuesday Both parties confidently claim Indiana by 10,000 majority. Democrats appear to feel pretty certain of carrying Pennsylvania. Republicans, however, have advices which lead them to believe that Hartranft will have 12,000 to 15,000 majority, and carry Indiana by 8,000 to 10,000. Ohio is generally conceded by Democrats here to Republicans. A Washington special says the Republican State Committee's estimates on the three States are, Pennsylvania, 15,000, Ohio, 23,000 Indiana, 10,000. All advices from the latter State indicate that the contest will be one of the most exciting which has ever occurred, both parties exerting themselves to the utmost The aggregate vote will be very large.

The Test in Ohio.

COLUMBUS, Oct. 5.—Gen J. H. Geiger, appointed to issue a call for a Straight out Democratic Convention, has issued a manifesto to the Democrats of Ohio, stating that as a test is made next Tuesday, as to Greeley's strength in Ohio by a vote on the Secretary of State, Straightouts should think twice before voting for Aquilla, as in voting for him they indirectly support their old enemy, Greeley.

Bank Statement.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5—The Bank Statement shows a decrease of over two millions.

A San Francisco Man Commits Suicide.

ALBANY, (N. Y) Oct 5.—The body of the suicide at Stanwix Hall was identified as Mr. Levison, recently from San Francisco. He had in his possession a large amount in diamonds and jewelry, the loss of which by robbers is supposed to have unsettled his mind.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Northwest Boundary Commission.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—The State Department has advices from the Northwest Boundary Commission, which states that little progress is made in locating the 49th parallel. The expedition will soon return to the United States for winter quarters.

Mexican Claims Commission.

The filling of the vacancy in the Mexican Claims Umpire, caused by the death of Dr Francis Lieber, will probably lead to trouble. Our Government, it is said, would be unwilling to accept any one named by Mexico, as all questions referred would be by Int. The Indian cases, amounting to $32,000,000, might fall to the Mexican Umpire and the interest of his country, it is contended, would necessarily bias his judgment. It is also said that Mexico cannot consistently ask any of the European nations to name an Umpire.

SUNDAY MORNING OCTOBER 8 1872

Political Morals

Whenever any branch of business becomes so far subject to its own artificial rules as to ignore the principles of the moral law it needs a thorough reconstruction A system of laws that is not founded in natural justice a system that will not secure for the court that administers the law according to certain artificial technical rules of interpretation which violate the plain sense of justice is a court that cannot retain the respect of mankind nor indeed exist for any considerable length of time There is no science in communities that will assert itself given more strongly often than the conscience of the individual man You may take an average person out of a community, and subject him to temptation that will overthrow his purposes and make him do that which he condemns as a great wrong You may invent a special plea for the individual man wherewith he can satisfy, or at least silence his conscience But you can not so manage that aggregate conscience which is the sum total of all the individual consciences of a whole people Though one man may be silent in presence of a wrong that affects a community another man will speak, and discussion will bring to the light the truth that is not to be put down by special pleading

There is a principle that politicians might study to advantage Parties must have certain rules and measures of discipline, in order to secure united action in carrying out the purposes of its organization But whenever the rules for the preservation of party discipline are pushed to the extent of subverting the principles of natural right that party is in danger of disintegration Only the greatest emergencies can long hold together a party when it has ceased to represent the sentiments of the honest and respectable portion of its adherents So soon as the party machinery degenerates into a means simply of drilling the masses into the support of particular men or of selfish measures its hold upon the affections and sympathies is loosened Whatever may be said to the contrary it is a fact proved by the history of political parties that the mass of voters have pretty clear ideas upon political morals, and will not consent to any very wide departure from the rules of common honesty in the management of their party affairs The political conscience though probably not so well defined in its form of expression is not less exacting than the individual conscience and is vastly harder to silence with excuses and subterfuges

The remains of the Confederate dead who fell on the battle field at Antietam have been removed from the temporary resting place in which they were laid at the close of the great battle to a new cemetery designed expressly for that purpose near Hagerstown The new cemetery called Rose Hill says the Washington Chronicle has been planned with excellent taste On the eastern or upper side of the lot is a circle in which a mound will be raised, to be eventually capped with a becoming shaft, with the inscription "To the Memory of the Unknown and Unrecognized Southern Dead" In semi circles partly surrounding this mound and on the gently sloping hillside with their feet to the common centre in slightly curving sections, lie the remains of the Southern soldiers who fell upon the surrounding battle-fields Of all those the names of only two are preserved Col Strong of New Orleans, and Capt Whateley of Alabama. Between the sections are winding walks which will be decorated in a manner suitable to the surroundings through the cemetery winds a serpentine drive for carriages Thus they are laid to rest in the land they invaded, with the honors of the soldier while the offerings of affection are strewn upon their graves by those who sent them forth with benedictions to battle against the government

Most of our readers know more or less of John B Weller once the Governor of California A new generation of politicians have grown up since he was prominent in American politics A third of a century has passed since he was a Congressman from Ohio The generation that heard of him as a General in the Mexican war, was in its prime a quarter of a century ago The California that elected him Governor is no longer in existence It is the California golden romance A Democrat, after the straightest sect he was at the zenith of his fame in the palmy days of the Democracy and sank out of sight as the star of that party waned Once afterwards he came to the surface as a Democratic orator in Idaho but it was only for a day He is now a United States Commissioner in New Orleans He protends to no sympathy with the Administration as an avowed Democrat still he does not obtrude his political opinions before the world. He is said to be working quietly in his obscurity and is resolved never again to take any part in political matters

The congratulatory address of Hon H W Scott last evening, on the occasion of the reception tendered to Mr Mitchell U S Senator elect, was remarkably well timed and appropriate showing, clear and well defined ideas of the duties and responsibilities of the position to which that gentleman has been raised Mr Scott's address was replete with sound suggestions upon the importance of an unbiased and impartial discharge of the duties which lie before the recipient of the honors of the occasion His remarks will be responded to by every republican in the State

A correspondent writing from Walla Walla says the address delivered at that place on the 1st by Governor Bennett of Idaho was one of the most eloquent and telling that it has been the privilege of the people of Walla Walla to hear The Governor is one of the best stump speakers in the country and is doing good service in the good cause The republicans of Oregon will find him a powerful auxiliary in the campaign

Governor Bennett will address the people of Oregon upon political matters at Salem on the 8th inst at Albany on the 9th and at Jacksonville on the 12th The speaking will be in the evening His speech last night at the reception was one of the happiest efforts we have ever heard

A canvasser for a life of Greeley solicited the subscription of a prominent farmer in Ohio agent a good Democrat recently He refused to buy and the following conversation ensued "Am you a Democrat" asked the pedler "Won't you vote for Greeley" "Yes" Then why don't you buy his life" "Because if I read it I'll never vote for him"

The bottle of sacred oil recently found amid the ruins of Pompeii to which reference was made in this paper turns out to have been nothing but a bottle of whisky in disguise left behind by a private party of Colonel [illegible] fashionable gentleman was [illegible]

THE TERRITORIES

King county has the largest farming valuation of any county in Washington Territory except Walla Walla

Two towns on Garfields lands few lots remain Olympia An absence of sand and grit is not a valuable among the Dramas

Within a few days past a substantial wharf fifty feet wide and about feet in length has been erected back of the Railroad House and now branch building

Mr Mcilvoy while hauling logs on the Snohomish river had a foot so severely crushed as to render amputation necessary which operation was performed last Sunday by Dr Weed of Seattle

A new foundry has been established in Seattle by Messrs Wilson which will be ready for operations in about two weeks From the description given the Dispatch it will be an extensive affair

The Territorial Democratic Convention lately held at Olympia, and which was composed of twenty men endorsed O B Maladden and Horace Greeley Mc accepted Horace not heard from

The barkentine Active Captain Manson sailed from this port on the 24th ult having on board 2 0 000 feet of assorted lumber from the mills here and also 4 000 feet of maple lumber from Randolph's mill She also took down two passengers—Mrs Brown and Mrs Dyer

At the late Territorial Democratic Convention held at Olympia, the masses didn't pour out worth a cent Out of sixty delegates composing the Convention there were only twenty present while barely enough proxies were found or manufactured to constitute a quorum The counties of Stevens Whitman Yakima Klickitat Skamania Chehalis Pacific Kitsap Mason and Clallam were entirely unrepresented

Application was made to Judge Jacobs at chambers on Monday last by the Indians Mason and Dickey arrested by order of Father Chirouse of the Tulalip Reservation for a writ of habeas corpus The charge was from their arrest for trespass that the same was illegal upon the following grounds 1st that the Indian Agent had no power to arrest an Indian off of the Indian Reservation 2d that the said Indians belonged to the Black River family of the Duwamish tribe of Indians and that said family had never given their assent to the Treaty made at Point Elliot The Judge refused to issue the writ

OREGON

A little daughter of Mr Braley of McMinnville, fell from the top of her father's granary a distance of six or eight feet last Monday and broke both cheek bones

Burglars and thieves of all sorts are the dread of the Salem people during fair week A few raids have been made but no extensive hauls have been made so far

We are informed that an accident occurred at the Lafayette ferry on Tuesday last The team hooked the buggy in which was a lady with a child in her arms off into the river The lady got hold of a timber with one hand holding her child with the other and clung to the timber until assistance reached her

On Tuesday last a lad about ten years of age named Wyman step son of Mr George Miner was driving a load of wood through the streets of McMinnville when by some means he slipped from his seat on front of the load striking first on the tongue of the wagon and then down under the wheels which passed over his breast He was severely but not dangerously injured

During the rush at the entrance of the circus at the Fair Grounds on Thursday evening Mr McKinney of Douglas county felt a fumbling at his watch chain and on looking down found a boy using his pocket, with the assistance of a light fingered gent He grasped the man when a number of confederates endeavored to separate them but McK held on like grim death to a nigger and secured his arrest, but the watch had been passed to some of his pals The chap was taken to Salem and lodged in jail

SUNDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 6, 1872.

CITY.

HIS OLD TRICKS.—The follow Murphy, with half a dozen aliases, who was before Judge Denny yesterday morning, turns out to be better known in this community than was at first accredited. Some four years ago he robbed a discharged soldier of about $500 in currency, or at least was pretty strongly suspicioned of the crime. The soldier was drunk, and Murphy had been in his company all night, until the money was missed, when they parted company. In absence of positive proof, the police was compelled to allow Murphy to go free. Within a few weeks after the robbery occurred, Murphy purchased out the Pony saloon, and continued the proprietor for several months. During the time, he contracted all the debts possible, and finally, after having disposed surreptitiously of all his saloon fixtures, he departed one night. To succeed, and avoid pursuit, he had recourse to a rather amusing ruse. When he left, sometime during the night, he locked his saloon door, and hung a piece of black crape on the latch. Naturally enough, the following morning every one who observed the emblem of mourning, supposed some relation of the proprietor was dead, and gave the matter no more thought. The crape remained several days on the door, and at length attracted attention. The saloon was opened, and it was found that the bird had flown and the saloon emptied. Some time after, his former creditors heard that Murphy was employed in Victoria in the chain gang. Nothing more was heard or thought of the fellow, until, like a bad penny, he returned to afflict this community.

HAND CUT.—Yesterday morning a slender trail of blood was observed on the sidewalk leading from a house on Alder street. The trail could be traced clear down to First street. Investigation of the matter leads to the following disclosures: A certain man in the city married a widow lady some months ago. Their union proved infelicitous, and after a short time the couple parted. On Friday night the estranged husband gave the wife a friendly call. She refused to admit him to the house, and in his anger he struck with his fist the glass in the door. He had occasion to rue at his folly, for his hand and wrist were dreadfully cut. The sight of the blood did not soften the wife's heart, and she still refused to allow him to enter the house, and he was at length compelled to go back. After bleeding profusely—at least half a gallon—he repaired to a drug store and had his hand dressed. The sight of the blood was a mystery to those who observed it, until the true circumstances came to light.

PASSENGERS.—The following are the passengers on board the steamship John L. Stephens, now en route for this port: T Egerton Hogg, F S Chaplin, J L Champlin, L W Crawford, L Thompson, L Hirsch and three children, A Goodenough and wife, Miss A C Hovey, Miss B Seigle, G S Patterson, A D Patterson and family, T W Clark, A Berchelmen, Capt Johnson, U S A, L Moore, Mrs Dr Robinson, Mrs L H Smith, E B Cannon, A Bahman, Mrs A Caving and child, Mrs A M Alley, J W Coon and wife, R H Fletcher, A McDonald and son, H Dow, E G Ingalls and family, Dr J H Hatch and family, Miss L McEntee, Mrs Price, Mrs J G Downey and child, M Shapan, F P Stone, D Morgan Jr, J E Jewett, S G Whitman, Mrs A Butler and child, Mrs G L Mills, J D Rask and family, J Reigner, G I Buxton, W G Scarff and wife, W Priday and wife.

"NAVY" COFFEE.—Friday, a rather suspicious looking box was received at the east side depot, marked "Salem." From the size and appearance of the box, the freight agents were led to suspect that the case might contain a dead body. This suspicion was the more strongly confirmed by an offensive smell which emanated from the crates. The agents had grim images of small pox, or else a mutilated corpse, and were fearful about opening the box. The Coroner was notified several times, and at length went over to the depot yesterday morning. The suspicious looking package was opened, but to the surprise of all, nothing greeted the optics and olfactories but a mass of partially decayed sausages. Thus ended the box mystery.

FAIRVIEW ENCAMPMENT.—On September 26, Rev. A. C. McDougal organized the above Encampment of the Champions of the Red Cross, at the mouth of the Sandy river, with twenty-five charter members. The officers are J. C. Snover, Colonel Commander; W. H. Radcliff, E. C.; T. Turner, S. G.; J. H. Hall, J. C.; J. S. Stott, Gen.; A. Radcliff, Treas.; P. R. Howard, C. of H.; R. B. Hayden, Chap.; D. M. Heslin, M. of C.; M. L. Stott, F. L.; J. Hughes, F. G.; P. O'Hare, R. S.; B. N. Snover, C. R. C.; E. J. Pullen, Sup.; J. L. Denton, Vice.; J. S. Heslin, O. G. Meet on Monday night.

PROBABLE RESIDENCE.—The dispatches announce that private letters have been received at San Francisco stating that Gen. William Tecumseh Sherman contemplates visiting this city soon with a view of a permanent residence here. Should this prove true, Portland ought to congratulate herself on the acquisition of this gallant soldier, as one of her adopted people. It is needless to say that our citizens will extend a cordial and hearty welcome to the hero of that immortal march "from Atlanta to the sea," should he conclude to become a resident of this city.

DISGRACEFUL.—One of the officers on the steamer Geo. S. Wright for having failed to perform some of his duties, was discharged on Friday evening. Yesterday morning he got drunk and returned to the vessel, and became very noisy and abusive. Capt. Mountain endeavored to induce the man to leave the wharf, but failing by gentle means, he caught him by the collar and dragged him from the wharf. The drunken fellow returned several times, and as often was forcibly ejected. At length, on being threatened with a police officer, he took his valise and departed.

NORTH STAR ENCAMPMENT.—September 25th, Rev. A. C. McDougal organized the above Encampment of the Red Cross at Columbia Slough, with twenty charter members, which meets on Tuesday evenings. Officers—J. S. Scott, Emissary Commander; H. R. Lung, S. C.; W. F. Cook, J. C.; J. S. McCain, Gen.; S. W. Scott, Treasurer; W. F. Howell, C. of H.; C. R. Legg, Insp.; M. A. Powell, M. of C.; E. Long, Chap.; A. J. Barns, F. G.; C. R. Burlingame, C. of R. C.; A. F. Millard, R. S.; S. E. Lung, F. L.; J. M. Long, Vice.

NARROW ESCAPE.—A narrow escape from a general fire took place on Friday evening in the upper portion of the city. Some parties set fire to a heap of brush in the back yard of one of the buildings and went to bed. Late in the night the fire was communicated to a plank sewer connecting with one of the buildings on the block. A policeman observed a brisk fire, and on going up to examine the premises found the sewer burning up. He aroused the sleeping inmates of the building, and the fire was extinguished before serious damage resulted.

FIRE AT THE DALLES.—Parties from the Dalles inform us that a fire occurred at that place last Wednesday night. Two small wooden buildings were entirely consumed. In one of the buildings was the truck, etc., of the Hook and Ladder Company, which did not escape the general destruction. The fire is supposed to be the work of an incendiary. Loss is not known. Very fortunately for the safety of property, no wind at all was stirring, or else the heavy conflagration of last year would have probably been duplicated.

CROWDS.—The cars last evening from Salem, were crowded with passengers from the Fair. The train to all intents closed Friday night, and the great exodus of people took place yesterday. Thousands who were in attendance during the week, will disperse for their respective homes in various parts of the State, content with what they have seen, for the next year to come.

VESSEL WRECKED.—We learn that a schooner—the Rose Perry—was driven on shore at Shoalwater Bay last Wednesday and totally wrecked. She was of Eastern build, and was of about 150 tons burden. At the time she had but little cargo on board. The crew were all rescued by the lighthouse tender Shubrick. We are unable to learn further particulars.

LOAD OF WHEAT.—The steamer Josie McNear and barge Nez Perces Chief, both took a load of wheat down the river yesterday, which will be transferred on board the barks Electra and Navi gator.

SUICIDE.—The mortal remains of the late Wm. Davidson were buried Friday in the cemetery belonging to the Ionian Asylum, from that institution.

DRUNK TWO.—Only two drunks were disposed of yesterday morning by Judge Denny. Each was fined $10 and cost.

A GREAT MEETING.

RECEPTION OF U. S. SENATOR ELECT, HON. JOHN H. MITCHELL.

SPEECHES BY HON. H. W. SCOTT, HON. J. H. MITCHELL, U. S. SENATOR ELECT, GOV. BENNETT, HON. J. F. WATSON, HON. J. F. CAPLES, AND OTHERS.

At an early hour last evening the streets leading toward the Court House were thronged with people, all going in that direction to attend the reception tendered to Hon. J. H. Mitchell, and to hear the various speakers on the occasion. About fifteen minutes before 8 o'clock, a beautiful piece of pyrotechnical skill was lighted up in front of the place of meeting which brilliantly illuminated the entire vicinity. This consisted of an arch with a radius of five or six feet within which in letters of blue and gold were the words "Our Senator, Mitchell." At 8 o'clock the large hall in the Court House was crowded and hundreds were unable to find seats. The meeting being called to order, Hon. Phil. Wasserman, Mayor, came forward and introduced the Honorable Senator elect and Hon. H. W. Scott. The latter gentleman then delivered the following

CONGRATULATORY ADDRESS:

Mr. Mitchell: Your friends congratulate you on your election to the United States Senate; they believe and trust that the State will have reason to congratulate itself on that event. To achieve high and honorable distinction is always a proper object of effort. Ambition is not necessarily illaudable. The charge, "fling away ambition," was given by one of the world's greatest intellects; but it was put in the mouth of a scheming man who had enjoyed elevated place and nearly unlimited power, and who had at last fallen by the practice of sinister and unworthy acts. Such a speech well becomes one in his situation, but it should never be construed as applying to men in other circumstances, who, animated by a meritorious purpose to do high things and to achieve an honorable name, bend all their energies toward there ends. Ambition rightly directed is the source of all progress, the true parent of all the best things ever achieved for or by mankind.

Called to represent Oregon in the Senate of the United States, you will occupy a position which has ever been considered one of the highest dignity and responsibility. In respect of power, importance and elevated station, few positions known among men equal the one to which you have been chosen. A man chosen to such a place becomes in the largest sense a public character. As a Senator he represents his State; yet not less does he represent the entire American people. He serves in no narrow legislative capacity. His influence and responsibility are coextensive with the Republic; nay, more, they reach beyond the Republic and extend to its relations with all the world. Such is the position to which the people of your State have chosen you. Such are the grave duties which they have laid upon you. Such are the momentous interests which they have placed in your hands.

The people of your State know you, and they trust they have reason to believe that you will acquit yourself in a way to justify their highest confidence. But no man will be judged wholly by what he has done; what he can and will do, is the test by which he will be tried. People do not regard the past. They look to the future. To hold their confidence and justify their expectations, energy, activity, tact, address, and finally success, are essential requisites. With less than these no man can sustain himself. With these the public man is fitted for elevated places; even the ordinary condition of political life may be so far reversed that the post he occupies may become a candidate for him.

A Senator must devote much of his time and labor to the immediate interests of his State. This is especially true of the Senator who represents a new State like Oregon. To do this duty acceptably requires patience and industry. The representative of the people must maintain his connection with them. He cannot separate himself from them. He must study to continue in sympathy with their condition, wants, and aims. They expect much of him. Their demands may often be exacting, yet at last the people almost invariably do justice to their servants, and judge them fairly by their whole career. On a representative's devotion to local interests depends much of his success and popularity.

In the Senate of the United States there is a field where the largest ability may display itself. There is the forum in which the very best talents and the highest intellectual qualities have always appeared. Much, indeed, is to come, as it were, into the presence of the long line of illustrious characters who fill up the pages of our country's history. Again, permit me to say that your friends congratulate you on your election to such a position, and they fully trust that your State will have reason to congratulate itself upon the advent. And if anything were needed to auspicate your introduction into the border field of National affairs which you now enter, your friends trust you will find it in the acclamations of those who now greet you, and who proffer their warmest wishes for your success.

At the close of Mr. Scott's remarks Mr. Mitchell addressed the audience for about one half hour in his usual able, eloquent and stirring manner. Owing to the lateness of the hour at which the meeting closed, we are unable to give his remarks at length this morning. We will give his speech in full to-morrow. After Mr. Mitchell had taken his seat, of Idaho, was introduced, and for about thirty minutes kept the audience most intensely and earnestly entranced by his soul-stirring eloquence, his stern logic and polished wit, as he called attention to some of the leading points involved in the political issues now before the country. A full report of his speech would be highly entertaining, though no report would do him justice, as one must hear him to fully appreciate his speech. His voice is fine and his articulation remarkably clear and distinct, while his earnestness and fluency cannot but please and impress his hearers. We are sure that Gov. Bennett will do a successful work for Republicanism wherever he speaks in our State, and we especially call attention to the times and places appointed for him to speak, which we publish elsewhere.

GOV. BENNETT,

Speeches were also made by Messrs. Watson of Douglas county, Caples of Multnomah, Harin of Clackamas, and Mrs. Dunlway, editor of the New Northwest. All the speeches were well received and loudly applauded. Interspersing the speeches the music by the East Portland Brass Band was of that excellent character with which our citizens have become somewhat familiar. The band did some of their finest playing, and was much commended by those who heard it.

SPECIAL CHURCH NOTICES.

PERSONAL.

The Directors of the N. P. R. R. return to this city to-day. A special boat will be sent from this city to Kalama to meet them. It is supposed that they have selected, at least, the temporary terminus of the road, but the matter, so far, is mere supposition.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

When you call at the Central Market recollect that Spaulding Bros. are there. They occupy stalls 1 and 2.

CENTRAL MARKET OPENED.

THE FIRST GRAND OPENING NIGHT.

The large and handsome brick building, designed for a market, was commenced over a year ago by our enterprising townsman Capt. A. P. Ankeny. After the expenditure of a large sum of money, the building has at length been completed and was formally thrown open last evening. The new Central Market, as it now stands, is an architectural ornament to the city and a credit to this enterprising community. The lower or ground story has been divided off into twenty-eight handsome stalls, and each leased to various parties. This story is devoted exclusively to the market and is finished in a handsome manner. The floor is composed of asphaltum, the sides of brick and overhead it is ceiled and painted in bright new colors. The upper stories are supported by twenty-eight large turned pillars, which also serve to designate the limits of each stall, and are placed along at regular intervals on each side of the main hallway.

The market is 200 feet long, extending through from First to Second street. It is well ventilated, the room being more than 20 feet high in the clear, with doors at the rear of each stall. An abundance of light is furnished the occupant of each stall, together with all the necessary appointments of water, etc. Two large and capacious sewers extend along the entire length of the building on the outside, so that filth cannot accumulate, and neatness and cleanliness can be strictly observed. Everything is as conveniently arranged as could be desired. In the center of the building, midway of the aisle, is a raised platform of fine wooden workmanship, on which is placed a profusion of rare flowers from the Proserpina of L. Pfunder. These neatly arranged flowers adds a picturesqueness to the whole interior of the market.

Last evening the market was brilliantly illuminated with gas and presented a magnificent appearance. The aisle was thronged with ladies and gentlemen, attracted thither by curiosity, and during the course of the evening hundreds of persons visited this new center of attraction and business. It is well worthy a visit, and we advise all to call and see the new Central Market and examine its handsome interior by gas light.

The following are the names of the occupants of the stalls:

Stalls No. 1 and 2 will be occupied by Messrs. Spaulding Bros. This firm occupy stalls on each side of the building as you enter from the east end. Both stalls have small offices attached and present a very neat appearance.

Stall No. 3 will be occupied by a Mr. Messenger, of San Francisco, who will deal exclusively in pork, in all its varieties.

Stall No. 4 will be presided over by Mr. P. A. Eddy. He will deal principally in eggs, butter, lard, etc.

Stalls No. 5, 6 and 7 are occupied by Messrs. Anders & Rowe, the well known grocers at the corner of Fourth and Washington streets. They make a splendid display of all sorts of groceries and provisions. The stalls have two circular stands inside, on which are displayed the finest stock of imported delicacies and fancy groceries in the city. This firm make a specialty of this line of goods, as also cordials, liquors and fine teas and coffees.

Isaac Bergman, the well known meat dealer occupies stalls No. 8 and 9.

James Quinn, the popular and well known fish and fowl dealer, occupies stalls 10 and 11. These stalls he has fitted up regardless of expense and in good taste. He has a handsome and prominent stand, and will keep at all times every description of game, poultry and fish. On the right hand side he has erected a coop with twelve cages, in which various samples of live game, poultry, etc., will be kept as samples. There are water troughs in each stand. In the center is a stand with hooks to hang on the dressed game for sale. On the left hand side is a counter for fish, and the marble counter is arranged for keeping a grand display of fish and other edibles. In the rear portion of the stalls a partition has been built, behind which the fish will be cleaned, thereby preventing filth and stench.

Mr. C. E. Miller, a hunter and game broker, occupies stall No. 12. He will keep for sale both dead and live game.

Stall No. 13 is occupied by Mr. J. M. Dwyer, of the Columbia River Fishery. He will deal exclusively in fish.

Ernst of Edelheim

BY JOHN HAY

I'll tell the story of a song
If his white hand for my pains —
And sweeter heart in rhyme
Love filled such thin pipe veins

I'll sing a song of true love,
My Muse has — to you,
Confess no contrivance —
The rule is old and true

The happiest of all lovers
Was Ernst of Edelheim
While Ernst of Edelheim —
And why he was the happiest,
I'll tell you in my rhyme

One summer night he wandered
Within a lonely glade
And couched in moss and myrtle,
He found a sleeping maid

The stars (I couldn't tell you)
Above her sands of gold
Not seemed a slumbering statue
So fair and white and cold

Fair and white as I told you
Beneath the starry skies,
Rose was her waking
Beneath the Ritter's eyes

He won her dreamy fancy
He bore her to his towers
And filled with love and laughter
Five morning's purpled hours

But when the thickening sunbeams
Had drunk the gleaming dew,
A misty cloud of sorrow
Swept o'er her eyes deep blue

She hung upon the Ritter's neck,
She wept with love and pain
She showered his sweet warm kisses
Like fragrant summer rain

"I am no Christian soul" she sobbed,
As to his arms she fly,
"I'm half the fay a woman,
A Sperpent half the day

"And when from yonder bell tower
I Rings out the noon day chime,
Farewell! Farewell forever,
Sir Ernst of Edelheim!"

"Ah! not farewell forever"
The Ritter wholly cried,
"I will be saved or lost with thee,
My lovely Will Bride"

Loud from the lordly bell tower
Rang out the noon day chime,
And from the lover of roses
A serpent slid away

But when the midwatch moonlight
Was shimmering thro' the grove,
He shaped his bride thrice dowered
With beauty and with love

The happiest of all lovers
Was Ernst of Edelheim —
His true love was a serpent
Only half the time

Letter from General Sigel.

General Sigel returned the following patriotic letter to Col. Dudley upon receipt of an invitation to be present at the Soldiers' and Sailors' reunion at Pittsburg on the 19th ult.

NEW YORK, September 13th, 1872 —Colonel L. E. Dudley' Secretary of Soldiers' and Sailors' National Committee Dear Sir—Your kind letter inviting me to be present at the Soldiers' and Sailors' Convention at Pittsburg, on the 17th inst., is received. I remember with pride and pleasure in the first great convention held in that same city in September, 1866, which resolutions were passed indorsing the policy of Congress, and especially the passage of the fourteenth amendment by that body At that time there was no doubt in our mind that certain constitutional guarantees were necessary to prevent reaction, define American citizenship, and create a uniform system of national representation throughout the republic.

The work of the convention was good and noble, but it is a remarkable fact that only in 1868, two years afterwards, the fourteenth amendment was ratified, while it took two years more (March 30th, 1870) before the fifteenth amendment, in regard to universal suffrage, was finally adopted

There was one fierce and continuous political struggle for more than five years after the war was closed—in Congress, in the press, on the stump, and in every nook and corner of the land—surpassing in its earnestness and gravity even the debates of the French Revolution, when the "rights of man" were discussed and declared. Of course, before the new basis of the future life of the Union was established, there was not and could not be perfect and harmony between the North and South. This at least was the opinion of those very men who now go back on their own acts by disavowing as tyrannical and unnecessary the very means, without which no such basis would exist at the present time. If anything is absurd it is this absurdity of accusing and defaming the executive instruments of their own self-divined plans and purposes, and to curse the children of their own love. If anything is unjust it is the endeavor of taking a whole generation to account for official acts which were forced upon them by Congressional legislation inasmuch as political fanaticism and military rule in the South after the war — neither proposed nor inaugurated by General Grant. If there is treachery it is this indirect appeal to the South to revolt against the past policy of the Government, on which to-day rests the unity, the security, and the liberty of the Republic!

As in 1861, so we are now again on the defensive, not against a formidable enemy in the field, but against a coalition which we distrust, as it is influenced by ambition and disappointment, and tends to the revival of questions which we regarded as settled. Under the profession of reconciliation, amnesty and reform, with nothing to stand upon except nicely framed platforms and pronunciamentos, this strange alliance of Guelphs and Ghibelines tries to put its double-faced policy into practice. We cannot entrust mere professions. We cannot trust ourselves to a house divided in itself and built on sand. We cannot entrust the most sacred rights, interests and liberties of the American people to a coalition which is not based on real facts and deeds, and above all suspicion and apprehension, to undo, or change or cripple what was attained by a terrible struggle, and paid for by the best blood of our people and millards of dollars.

For these reasons and others of secondary consideration, I cannot be in favor of the Cincinnati nominees, but shall stand with you on the side of Grant and Wilson

But while I am in their favor I hope to see in their election not a mere personal and temporary triumph. I hope that abuses, where they exist, will be abolished; perfect harmony between the North and and South restored by wise measures of conciliation and material support; that civil service reform will be extended and perfected by recognizing the right of the whole people, without difference of party, to be represented in the administration of offices, and that the soldiers and sailors of the Union will be, as they have always been the most zealous and faithful supporters of our civil Government, the Constitution and laws of the American Republic Very respectfully and truly yours F SIGEL.

Reformers.

The St. Louis Democrat thus takes off the leaders in the Greeley movement upon their professions of devotion to reform measures

About the sixth day of November next, the traveler from New Zealand or elsewhere, if disposed may sit upon a broken fence rail at Chappaqua to view the ruins of the Greeley movement. As he scans the roll of the great reformers whose downfall will be there recorded, his eye will rest upon the name of Carl Schurz, with a $7,000 overdraft against it at the State Department, and a town lot speculation in Wisconsin which was unfortunate for all who engaged in it except Mr Schurz. While he is pausing to consider how a great reformer could also be a confidence man, he will pass to the name of Trumbull. With admiration akin to honest love he will dwell upon that gentleman's name and fame in all that is pure and of good report, but just as he prepares to pass to the next in order in the honorable list, he will encounter the $10,000 McArdle fee with suspicions of a swindle and the smell of a bribe charged up against the great and good Senator from Illinois. As he ponders whether all this can be true, and how a Senator with his fee in his pocket can still be a reformer, he will behold the name of Doolittle. Truly, he will say, here is one of the just. But alas!

"All that's bright must fade,
The brightest still the fleetest,
All that's sweet was made
But to be gone when sweetest."

Just as Doolittle's record shines the brightest, and while yet his honest heart is bursting with indignation at his country's wrongs, there comes a black cloud o'er his sky in the shape and form of a cotton steal. The New Zealander, not being versed in American politics, cannot tell how a man can be a reformer and at the same time be clamoring for the undivided half of a bogus cotton claim But he will not yet despair, there may be a balm in the Greeley Gilead still So he dismisses Schurz, Trumbull and Doolittle for further investigation, and he welcomes Kilpatrick, the dashing Prince Rupert of the late unpleasantness No charge of pecuniary corruption stains his fair fame, he never inveigled his unsophisticated countrymen into a town lot swindle, never having been a Senator he never took $10,000 for doing nothing in the McArdle case, or shared the "swag" in a cotton steal, but even the glitter of Kilpatrick is not that of honest gold, and the New Zealander soon discovers that though guiltless of avarice, he is accused of an amorous freak which renders his position as a moral reformer a bad case of virtuous preaching supplemented by various practicing He is obliged to confess that Kilpatrick's male harlotry is a bad companion picture for Mr Greeley's marked continence and so he passes on to the next among the models before him He finds in each a flaw But at last he meets the name of Woodson, and congratulates himself that Missouri, the State of 5,200 speeches and rotten apple sprees, has a man worth the cause he espouses He reads Mr Woodson's nomination speech, and sighs to think there are no Woodsons in New Zealand, but a little further on he reads that Mr. Woodson, like all his fellow reformers, is encumbered, and that the encumberance is in the formidable shape of a $40,000 bond swindle.

The New Zealander finally gives it up He bids farewell to Chappaqua, takes the next steamer for home, and hopes that if there is any reform movement ever started in New Zealand it will not be modeled after the American plan. He admits that New Zealand politics should be reformed, but he hopes there will be no Schurz, no Trumbull, no Doolittle, no Kilpatrick, no Woodson to do the work It is unnecessary to say that the Democrat indorses the New Zealander as a man of shrewd observation and good judgement

Kindergarten

The following from the pen of Elizabeth B Peabody, cannot fail to interest all educators, since it treats of a subject that is not attracting the attention of teachers throughout the country, and is from one whose experience entitles her to a respectful hearing at all times

Since I believe that the principle of the activity on which children are led in the Kindergarten, as set forth by Froebel, is, (to use the words of the first report of the Boston Kindergarten Association) "nothing short of that which organizes the universe on the one side and the human understanding on the other," you will permit me to say a word in reply to your little paragraph on the Kindergarten, in which you make mention of it "as a shrewd compromise between play and study," and of me as favoring a mode of education which does not involve "lessons of self denial and a habit of energetically buckling to serious work" as its necessary issue

The true kindergarten, considered in its separation from the schools of instruction which follow it, takes children between the ages of three and seven only. Its object is entirely that of preparation of the child by adults for the duties of life, among which the acquisition of knowledge through object teaching or the study of books is only one The principle of the kindergarten is not object teaching, though necessarily some study of objects is involved in directing the playful activity of children in a general manner upon the lines of law, while they are learning to use their fingers and exercise their senses to see the differences and resemblances of the materials of their play, which is "serious work" to them, and involves quite "an energetic buckling," to whatever they take upon their hands to do.

I see by the advertisement of Miss Haines that at last a model kindergarten is to be established in New York. As yet there has been but one model teacher in the country, The attempt which I made myself in 1860, to which you allude, was an ignorant, and therefore mischievous one, like a multitude of others on both sides of the Atlantic, that have really put back the great reform of Froebel. But I detected my error in the failure of the results promised by Froebel, and therefore went to Europe to learn the truth from those whom Froebel had personally instructed to his method. Since that time it has been my aim to establish the proper training for kindergartners, as the only means of preventing "the corruption of the best" which "is the worst." To this end it has been a special object of mine to bring to this country the very lady whom Miss Haines has now engaged, as well as to sustain Mrs. and Miss Kriege, in Boston.

The speedy method of rectifying the current [illegible] which your paragraph expresses and of appreciation by the object of the kindergarten is to begin the [illegible] on the method of nature, which, properly understood, is identical with suffering little children to [illegible] Christ, and forbidding them not, would be to read the recent circular of information on kindergartens issued by the National Bureau of Education, and which will be sent free to any one who writes for it to General Eaton, the Commissioner of Education, at Washington

I will take this opportunity to state what is most desirable should be widely known—that one of the most eminent of our educators, Mr. A. S. Kissel, of Des Moines, Iowa, who, like myself, has been studying the subject for twelve years at home, in books and in Europe, has just founded a normal school for training kindergartners in the art and science of Froebel, in connection with a model kindergarten, under the direction of Miss Fritsche, whom he selected as the ablest person of many who became known to him in a recent tour of Europe, which he made for the purpose. It is so much cheaper to live at Des Moines than at the East, that this place presents great advantages to those who wish to study kindergardening for professional purposes, especially to those at the West.

The price of coal in England has caused the Italians to turn their earnest attention to efforts to utilize the product of their mines Should English prices continue as high as at present, it is affirmed that Italy will be soon independent of Great Britain for coal.

Defend Your Health

The fall of the leaves not only symbolizes human decay but promotes it In other words, the effluvia from dying and rotting vegetation is unfavorable to health To this and other causes especially excess of moisture in the atmosphere—may be ascribed the prevalence of acute disorders of the stomach, bowels and liver at this season Every person of bilious habit is liable to be very bilious in the fall Then, too, all persons whose digestion is weak and more than ordinarily dyspeptic, and individuals predisposed to colic diarrhœa and dysentery, are partularly likely to be attacked by these complaints. The most complete defence against each and all of these distressing ailments is bodily vigor To obtain this blessing in all its plenitude where it does not exist Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is earnestly recommended It is the peculiar office of this preparation to reinforce and regulate the important organs which digest and temper the food, and convert it into life-sustaining blood Bodily vigor depends upon the nourishing qualities of the fluid and the nutritiousness of the blood depends upon the functional activity and regularity which it is the special province of the Bitters to secure Hence it is the best device of health at this season, and indeed at all seasons. When dysentery, diharrhœa, bilious colic, and other violent affections of the bowels, become epidemic, as they often do in certain parts of the country in the fall it will be found that persons who have been wise enough to resort to the Bitters as a preventive are almost invariably exempted from the scourge.

NATIONAL REPUBLICAN PLATFORM

ADOPTED BY THE REPUBLICAN PARTY, IN CONVENTION AT PHILADELPHIA, JUNE 6 1872.

The Republican Party of the United States assembled in National Convention in the city of Philadelphia on the first Tuesday in June 1872 declares its faith, appeals to its history, and announces its position upon the questions before the country

During the seven years of its ascendancy it has associated with grand acts unique the supreme duties of the time has organized a triumphant million, unanimized four million of slaves decreed the equal citizenship of all and established universal suffrage Exhibiting unparalleled magnanimity, it criminally punished no man for political reasons and has already restored all who incurred their legalty by clothing the mass of its former enemies with their rights of citizenship. It inaugurated a new policy toward the Indians, the Pacific Railroad and similar vast enterprises have been generously aided and successfully conducted to completion, the public lands have been freely given to actual settlers; immigration has been protected and encouraged, and a full acknowledgment of the rights of naturalized citizens secured from European powers In the form of National currency it has provided for the National credit and established it under the most extraordinary burdens It has negotiated new bonds at lower rates of interest. The revenues have been carefully collected and honestly applied Despite the annual large reductions from the rate of taxation, the public debt has been reduced during U S. Grant's Presidency at the rate of $100 000,000 per year A great financial crisis has been averted, and peace and plenty prevail throughout the land Menacing foreign difficulties have been peacefully and honorably compromised and the honor and power of the Nation kept in a high position throughout the world. This glorious record of the past is the party's best pledge for the future, and we believe that the people will not entrust the government to any party or combination of men, composed of those who chiefly have resisted every step in this beneficial progress

2 Complete liberty and exact equality in the enjoyment of all civil, political and public rights should be established and effectually maintained throughout the Union by efficient and appropriate State and Federal legislation. Neither law nor its administration should admit of any discrimination in respect to citizens by reason of race, creed, color, or previous condition of servitude

3. The recent amendments to the National Constitution should be cordially sustained because they are right, not merely tolerated because they are law, and should be carried out according to their spirit by appropriate legislation, the enforcement of which can be safely trusted only to the party that secured the amendments

4 The National Government seeks to maintain an honorable peace with all nations, protecting its citizens everywhere and sympathizing with all peoples who strive for greater liberty

5 Any system of civil service under which the subordinate positions of the Government are considered rewards for mere party zeal, is fatally demoralizing, and we therefore favor such a reform of the system, by a law which shall abolish the evils of patronage and make honesty, efficiency and fidelity the essential qualifications for public position, without practically creating a life tenure of office

6 We are opposed to further grants of public lands to corporations and monopolists, and demand that the National domain be set apart for free settlement by the people.

7 The annual revenue, after paying current debts, should furnish a moderate balance for the reduction of the principal of the public debt, and except as much as may be derived from a tax on tobacco and liquors, be raised by duties on importations, which should be adjusted so as in accepting commercial changes to have due regard to all the industries and growth and prosperity of the whole country.

8 We hold in undying honor the soldiers and sailors who as a class saved the Union Their pensions are a sacred debt of the nation, and the widows and orphans of those who died for the country are entitled to the care of a generous and grateful people. We favor such additional legislation as will extend the bounty of the Government to all our soldiers and sailors who were honorably discharged, and who in the time of duty became disabled, without regard to length of service or the cause of such discharge.

9 The doctrine of Great Britain and other European powers concerning allegiance, once a subject of bitter controversy between this and those governments, is now practically settled, through the efforts of the Republican party, here abandoned, and the American idea of the right of an individual to transfer his allegiance having been accepted by European nations, it is the duty of our Government to guard with jealous care the rights of adopted citizens against the assumption of unauthorized claims by their former Government, and we urge a continued and careful encouragement and protection to voluntary emigration

10 We think that Congress and the President have only fulfilled an important duty in their measures for the suppression of violent and treasonable organizations in certain lately rebellious regions and for the protection of the ballot, and therefore they are entitled to the thanks of the Nation.

13 We denounce the repudiation of public debts, in any form or disguise, as a national crime We witness with pride the reduction of the principal of that debt, and of the rates of interest upon the balance, and confidently expect that our excellent national currency will be perfected by a speedy resumption to specie payment.

14 The Republican party is mindful of its obligations to the just yeomen of America for their noble contribution to the cause of freedom, their application for admission to further usefulness is received with satisfaction, and the honest demands of any class of citizens for additional rights should be treated with respectful consideration.

15 We heartily approve of the action of Congress in granting amnesty to those engaged in the rebellion, and rejoice in the growth of peace and fraternal feeling throughout the land

16 The Republican party proposes to respect all rights reserved by the people to themselves, as carefully as the powers delegated by them to the State and Territorial governments It disapproves of assuming constitutional laws to [illegible] purpose of removing evils by the [illegible] ferences with rights reserved by the people to either the State or National Governments.

17 It is the duty of the Government to adopt such measures as will tend to encourage American commerce and ship-building.

18 We believe that the modest patriotism, the earnest purpose, sound judgment, practical wisdom, utter incorruptible integrity and illustrious services of U S Grant have commended him to the heart of the American people, and with him at our head we start to-day on a new march to victory.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established 1854. For the treatment of Seminal and Special Diseases, such as Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Male Diseases of twenty years standing and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated

DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the principal Hospitals of Europe, and has resumed practice at his Dispensary, 623 Kearny street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco, where he will be pleased to see his old patients and those requiring his services to call and see him.

The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies, and has returned with increased facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering from a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed from a diseased person! Look at their pallid, emaciated and haggard faces and their broken down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In the horrid situation those sadly suffer until death closes the scene! Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of those horrible, life-destroying maladies—see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to DR GIBBON, a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate case, without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who flood these cities, publishing their certificates and all manner of lies. Impositions upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self abuse This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combated by scientific medical means, viz. Sight becomes impaired, the countenance dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in society, shrinking from a desire to form new acquaintances, disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, foetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, nocturnal emissions, frightful dreams, involuntary seminal discharges, if allowed to go on unchecked, will end in premature death. If called in time, and applied immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure Dr. G will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who can still prove satisfactorily to him that his treatment of the complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN.

Gentlemen who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of the above fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and publicity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions. By inclosing Ten Dollars coin, in registered letter through Post Office or Express through Wells, Fargo & Co., a package of medicine will be forwarded to any part of the Union.

All communications strictly confidential.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who, with bogus sworn-to certificates, dupe the unwary one of the advertised doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco. Many of these, as tradesmen and boasters, too lazy too work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. The only way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry—see if you can find the doctor, and may also have many requests for an advertising physician in eight cases out of ten are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus testimonials, certificates of pretended patients' letters, &c. Dr. Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his offices of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 623 Kearney street, Corner Commercial, San Francisco, Post Office Box 1,057.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 1,057 ON THE LETTER. Consultation FREE.

Correspondents will please inform DR GIBBON in their letter that they read his advertisement in the Daily Oregonian jy6d4p3
